

Written Quiz

- | | POINTS |
|--|----------------------|
| 1. There are _____ phases of fire. | 25 |
| 2. A small fire, with the room temperature only slightly elevated and containing 21% oxygen would be considered in the phase. | 25 |
| 3. A fire with upper room temperature above 1300oF, developing thermal balance, and containing anywhere between 15% to 21% oxygen, would be considered in the _____ phase. | 25 |
| 4. A _____ condition can exist in the _____ phase when the oxygen content is less than 15% and extreme heat exists. | 25 |

POINTS POSSIBLE: 100

POINTS DEDUCTED:

FINAL SCORE:

Written Quiz - Key

- | | POINTS |
|--|----------------------|
| 1. There are THREE phases of fire. | 25 |
| 2. A small fire, with the room temperature only slightly elevated and containing 21% oxygen would be considered in the INCIPIENT OR FIRST phase. | 25 |
| 3. A fire with upper room temperature above 1300oF, developing thermal balance, and containing anywhere between 15% to 21% oxygen, would be considered in the FREE BURNING OR SECOND phase. | 25 |
| 4. A BACKDRAFT condition can exist in the SMOLDERING OR THIRD phase when the oxygen content is less than 15% and extreme heat exists. | 25 |

POINTS POSSIBLE: 100

POINTS DEDUCTED:

FINAL SCORE: